

New Zealand Maritime Museum HUI TE ANANUI A TANGAROA

Transport

Travel to the city centre to experience the many types of transport in Auckland. How has it changed over time? What transport will we have in the future? What are some issues related to transport?

What is transport? What types do we have in Auckland? From trains to buses, ferries, cars, Britomart, bicycles, walking, boats, cruise ships, container ships, Harbour Bridge and more—learn about transport by visiting the city centre and the New Zealand Maritime Museum.

Programme Overview

Set amongst our galleries and the busy CBD your students will take part in a fully programmed timetable that will include some of the following according to your needs:

Educator-led workshop—students will discover the many types of transport in Auckland. They will learn about past, present and consider future transport. They will reflect on the many issues involved in transport.

Transport Trail—students will discover transport related stories in our galleries in small groups led by their adult supervisor

Transport on the waterfront—students will discover transport options using a waterfront walk to view transport options (via walk ways, cycle paths and bridges)

Britomart Transport Centre— A walk around the Britomart Transport Centre

To create a full, rich programme of learning please talk to our Booking Team to discuss the selection of some of these additional learning experiences :
